Why Sponsor the Co-Occurring Disorders Symposium?

Sponsoring the 15th Annual Co-Occurring Disorders Symposium is more than a branding opportunity—it's a strategic investment in the behavioral health community.

This event draws over 200 professionals from across disciplines, including behavioral health clinicians, treatment court teams, county human services, probation, law enforcement, and healthcare administrators. It's a unique gathering of those working on the front lines of mental health and substance use treatment, offering sponsors meaningful exposure to decision-makers and direct-service providers alike.

With a program designed by clinicians for clinicians, the symposium fosters authentic connection, practical learning, and professional growth. By aligning your organization with this respected event, you demonstrate a commitment to advancing care, breaking down stigma, and supporting those who make a difference everyday.
